

Korean official gets FBI care

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI agents reportedly are guarding a South Korean diplomat who has defied orders to return home and has begun cooperating with the Justice Department's probe of alleged South Korean influence-buying among U.S. congressmen.

Sources identified him Tuesday night as Kim Sang Keun, who is officially listed as a counselor at the South Korean Embassy but who reportedly was the top Korean Central Intelligence Agency officer here.

FBI agents reportedly were guarding Kim, his wife and family at an undisclosed location near here. Agents were also stationed at Kim's apartment in suburban McLean, Va.

Kim, 43, who had been named in recent news reports about the Korean influence-purchasing probe as a KCIA officer, reportedly feared the Seoul government would make him a scapegoat in the U.S. investigation of its lobbying activities.

The South Korean government reportedly has ordered home several officials to prevent them from cooperating with U.S. investigators.

The alleged influence-purchasing scheme reportedly was directed from the highest echelons of the Seoul government with the knowledge of the South Korean president.

Although Kim and other South Korean officials at the embassy and other consular offices in the United States have diplomatic immunity, they could cooperate voluntarily with the prosecutors.

The South Korean Embassy issued this statement Tuesday night:

"Counselor Kim has never asked for political asylum and he made this clear not only to us but also to the U.S. authorities."

But a source said that Kim, while not technically a defector since he is from a nation friendly to the United States, has been allowed to change his visa status in return for his cooperation with the Justice Department probe.

Pay the same,
court decides

Women may live longer and collect more retirement benefits than men, but female workers cannot be forced to pay more into such plans for that reason alone, a federal court says.

The 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals agreed Tuesday with a lower court's ruling that Los Angeles' Department of Water and Power violated the civil rights of women employees when it demanded 15 per cent more in contributions from females than from males.

State park skating rink lists hours for season

The ice skating rink at Utah State Park opened to the public Wednesday afternoon on a daily basis, according to Dennis Weaver, park superintendent.

"The weather finally got cold enough," Weaver said. The rink would have opened earlier if temperatures hadn't been so unseasonably warm, he explained.

The rink will remain open until about mid-February if the weather remains cold enough for the ice. The rink originally had a canvas roof over it that acted as a sun screen, but it blew off in a windstorm last season.

Without the sun screen, warm temperatures and direct light soften the one-inch layer of ice and make it unsuitable for skating, Weaver said. "If the temperature doesn't get over about 45 degrees in the daytime we can hold the ice."

Skating hours will depend on the weather but the regular schedule is as follows: Monday through Friday, 8 to 10 a.m., 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., 4 to 6 p.m. and 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. An extra skating session will be held on Friday from 9 to 11 p.m.

The rink will also be open Saturday from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., 4 to 6 p.m., 7 to 9 p.m. and 9:15 to 11:15 p.m. Sunday's hours will be from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., 4 to 6 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

The skating rink is available for private parties, Weaver said. "You can reserve the entire rink for your own group for $30 an hour," he said. Reservations must be made at least five days in advance with a $25 deposit. The deposit will be lost if the reservation is cancelled within five days of the party.

Group reservation hours are from 9 to 11 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 8 to 10 a.m. on Saturday and 9:30 to 11:30 p.m. on Sunday. "The rink will hold 250 skaters comfortably," Weaver said. For reservations and ice conditions call 375-0733.

General admission to the ice rink is 50 cents for children under 12 and $1 for adults. Skates can be rented for an additional 50 cents, Weaver added.

Critic, professor to give talk today

Henry Nash Smith, historian and critic, will speak at 10 a.m. today in 347 ELWC. The lecture is sponsored by the English department, according to graduate coordinator John B. Harris.

Smith's topic will be "Making the Ideal Embrace the Real: Howells's New Species of Fiction." The lecture is new to the public.

Smith is a native of Texas and is currently professor of English at the University of California at Berkeley. He is also literary editor of the Mark Twain estate and custodian of the Mark Twain Papers.

Smith won the Dunning and Bancroft Prizes in American History in 1950 for his book "Virgin Land: The American West as Symbol and Myth."

Cabinet candidates assemble in Plains, Ga.

PLAINS, Ga. — President-elect Jimmy Carter met with 16 bankers, businessmen and economists Wednesday as his running-mate continued to apply jaw-boning pressure on the nation's steel industry to roll back recent price increases.

The meeting was attended by some of the nation's leading Democratic economic figures. Carter has made it known that the guest list includes the names of persons likely to be chosen as secretary of the treasury and other top economic posts.

Fire ruins U.S. officers club in Frankfurt

FRANKFURT, West Germany — An explosion and fire destroyed the Officers Club at Rhein-Main U.S. Air Force Base during the crowded lunch hour Wednesday. Three persons were injured, a spokesman said. "We're investigating the possibility of a bombing," the spokesman said, "but there was no bomb threat beforehand."

Times Square called biggest red light area

NEW YORK — Times Square was described Wednesday as the world's biggest redlight district at a hearing on proposals to conquer the city's concentrations of sex shops by dividing them as Detroit has.

A parade of witnesses urged passage of the proposed legislation at a day-long hearing at City Hall.

But even the City Planning Commission conceded that its plan to drive the sex industry from mid-Manhattan by forcing shops to disperse throughout the city could fail.

Life of Golan Heights buffer force extended

The U.N. Security Council has extended the life of the United Nations buffer force separating Israeli and Syrian troops on the Golan Heights for another six months. But the question of who will supply peacekeeping troops in southern Lebanon remained unresolved.

The Security Council voted 12 to 0 Tuesday — with China, Libya and Benin not participating — to extend the mandate for the 2,248-man U.N. Disengagement Observer Force until May 31.

Art thieves steal fake masterpieces

By JEFFREY D. ALDERMAN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — I had painted the public hall of our apartment building a gleaming white and needed something to break up the monotony. My solution: colorful, abstract oil paintings strategically placed. Little did I know my solution would cause the Great West Side art robbery.

After pricing some commercial oil paintings and getting a nosebleed, I decided to do the paintings myself. I bought four canvases and some bright colored oils and began my first attempt at art since I was ordered into remedial fingerprinting in the third grade.

In three hours I had four bizarre, but colorful, canvases.

In a fit of whimsy, I decided it would be fun to title the paintings. I placed little white tags at the bottom of each one. "Paint Hits Fan, an Alderman original from his Mal a La Gorge period, price $230,000."

Translation: a speckled, streaked, dribbled-on patchwork of red, white and blue that isn't worth a plug nickel but is guaranteed to give you vertigo.

My first major exhibition complete, I retired to my apartment for a late night beer.

Suddenly, our dogs began barking a signal that someone was in the hall. My wife poked her head out of our apartment just in time to hear the door to the building slam shut. She then noticed that two of the paintings were missing.

"Did you move your paintings?"

"No," I said.

"Well," she said, "then we've been robbed."

We called the police, who dutifully came, took notes and asked.

"What value would you place on the paintings?"

My wife spoke first: "Well, the canvas cost $6..."

"Tut, tut," I interrupted. "How can you place a value on a piece of art..."

The officer wrote down $6, winked at my wife and said with typical New York City, robbery-every-minute logic: "You should be flattered. He could have taken your stereo." I am flattered, but that thief is going to be disappointed if he has his heart set on $230,000.

Isn't this the North Pole?

Santa and his "subordinate Clause" are shown here visiting the BYU Bookstore in preparation for their holiday duties. Rumor has it that the couple will be working overtime making ready for this year's festivities.

Small-town mayors meet to gain notice

SHENANDOAH, Iowa (AP) — The organizer of a small-town mayor's conference here says, "It's about time little towns stand up and scream. Otherwise nobody will hear them."

About 20 mayors — all but one from Iowa — were expected Tuesday for the first National Rural Communities Mayors Conference. The agenda called for them to discuss their problems for two to three hours, snack on cookies and coffee, and then drive home.

Organizer David Childs, 32, part-time mayor of Shenandoah, pop. 6,000, said the national designation was tongue-in-cheek, but he insisted that the subject matter is serious.

"Rural communities have almost no voice and we want people to know that," Childs said Tuesday.

He said he got the idea while watching the recent televised national conference of big city mayors in Chicago. He said he was struck by a commentator's remark that federal revenue-sharing provides as much as 50 per cent of the yearly budget for some large cities.

"In Shenandoah, it was 4.6 per cent last year," he said. "If we received 50 per cent, there wouldn't be any problems. We could build the sewer plant, water tower and swimming pool we need."

The conference will attempt to define problems facing small communities, Childs said, "without really trying to arrive at the solutions."

Y club to mark Dutch holiday

In Holland, St. Nicolaas comes on the evening of Dec. 5 (not Dec. 25) to bring the children gifts and candy if they have been good or switches if they have been bad.

In observance of Sinterklaasavond (St. Nicolaas Evening) the Orange Club of BYU will meet Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. in A-104 JKB. The club takes its name from the ruling Dutch family, the House of Orange.

Charles D. Tate Jr., professor of English and an officer in the club, said all Dutch students and townspeople and returned missionaries from The Netherlands are welcome to attend with their families. There will be singing, talking and giving of small gifts to the children. St. Nicolaas also will appear.

Dr. Tate explained that on Dec. 5 St. Nicolaas is always accompanied by his helper, Black Pete, a Moorish servant, who carries the bag of goodies and switches for the good and bad children. The gifts are placed in the wooden shoes on the hearth. The children, in turn, leave hay and carrots for St. Nicolaas's horse.

Also St. Nicolaas comes from Spain (not the North Pole) and on a ship (not a sleigh pulled by reindeer). The Dutch St. Nicolaas is a venerable Catholic Bishop who wears red and white vestments. His is a friendly, good fellow, but not the jolly, jester-bellied Santa Claus in a red suit known in America.

Having had all of the festivities on Dec. 5, the Dutch settle back to enjoy quiet religious services and pageants on Dec. 25 and 26.

New York City install lean tree

NEW YORK (AP) — This year's city Christmas tree is an apt symbol of New York City's finances — as unbalanced as the city budget and as lean as its purse.

"Don't judge the scrawny thing until we've patched it back together," pleaded a Parks Department spokesman after the tree was installed across from City Hall. "Some extra branches will be drilled in."

Previous trees have measured up to 60 feet tall and 30 feet wide and have cost about $2,350. This year's is 46 feet tall and 20 feet wide and cost $250.

The nursery that provided the tree explained that the city cut down on the size for economic reasons.

Art, science relationship lecture topic

The third in a series of seven lectures sponsored by the College of Biological and Agricultural Sciences, will take place today at 10 a.m. in 377 ESTB.

Today's lecture topic will be "Discovery: The Art of Exploration." The relationship of the creativity of the artist, the inspiration of the religious leader, and the new idea of the scientist will be discussed, said Dr. Vernon Tipton, director of the lectures.

"The lectures," said Dr. Tipton, "are designed to bring the thinking of two disciplines, together on one subject."

Speakers for the lecture are Dr. Neal A. Lambert, associate professor of English, and Dr. William R. Anderson, professor of botany and range science at BYU.

Dr. Lambert is the Academic Advisor to the BYU Bookstore. He has co-edited two books, "A Believing People" and "Twenty-Two Young Mormon Writers."

Dr. Anderson received his B.S. in agronomy and M.S. in plant breeding from Utah State University. He received his Ph.D. from the University of California at Berkeley in 1963.

Bank tumbles ... no kidding!

(AP) — People expect the stock market to have its days on the down side, but officials of Peoples National Bank want to make sure their bank doesn't do the same.

A bank with a similar design collapsed on Sunday night, so Peoples' officials decided Tuesday to close until they get a structural safety report on their bank.

The collapse of the Bankers Trust Co. building, across town caused heavy damage to office equipment and furniture.

Instructors strike in Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Jefferson County's teachers went on strike Tuesday, closing the nation's 18th biggest school system and giving an unexpected holiday to more than 110,000 pupils.

W. D. Bruce, a Jefferson County Board of Education official, said the strike is the result, in part, of the merger of the city and county school systems and court-ordered desegregation order later that year. The strike, which began officially at 12:01 a.m. EST, was called after negotiators failed to reach an agreement on a contract covering 5,600 teachers. "I think we have a number of factors here," said Bruce. "The two systems have merged. The court order for desegregation took additional money."

New Bible edition in 'natural English'

NEW YORK (AP) — A new, widely awaited version of the complete Bible in conversational English was published Wednesday after 10 years' work.

It's called the "Good News Bible" and combines a fresh translation of the Old Testament with the New Testament, which had been rendered earlier in similar style with record-breaking success.

The finished book seeks to put the Scriptures "in the natural, modern English of everyday conversation," says the American Bible Society, which carried out the project.

Here are some samples from the new translation, subtitled "Today's English Version," compared with passages from the currently most broadly used "Revised Standard Version":

RSV: Genesis 1:1-2: "In the beginning, God created the heavens and the earth. The earth was without form and void, and darkness was upon the face of the waters."

TEV: "In the beginning, when God created the universe, the earth was formless and desolate. The raging ocean that covered everything was engulfed in total darkness, and the power of God was moving over the water."

RSV: Ecclesiastes 1:2: "Vanity of vanities, says the Preacher, vanity of vanities! All is vanity."

TEV: "It is useless, useless, said the Philosopher. Life is useless, all is useless."

The new translation, one of several that have come out in recent times reflecting increased knowledge of Biblical history and languages, is not intended to replace standard English versions.

Rather, it is meant to attract new readers and to reach those "who find the standard versions too difficult to read and understand," the society says.

In that objective, the society's previously published New Testament version, sometimes called "Good News for Modern Man," has become a top best-seller, its circulation totaling more than 50 million since it first came out in 1966.

The new translation is made from ancient Hebrew texts.

Western governor to interior secretary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Morris says he believes at least three westerners are being considered as secretary of interior.

These are Govs. Jerry Apodaca of New Mexico, William Guy of North Dakota and Cecil Andrus of Idaho.

In addition, Udall says he believes contender may be Texas Land Commissioner Armstrong.

Udall has talked to President-elect Jimmy Carter and his chief liaison official, Jack H. Wa-well as the person in charge of Department matters, Tim Craft.

Aides said that Udall has also told should not limit his consideration to southwestern persons, despite past nearby all interior secretaries being states.

BYU's "Big Bird" is a six-foot-tall chicken. The chicken, created and used by BYU advertising and public relations students, is a symbol for a California egg company, according to Richard Kagel, assistant professor of communications.
Four public relations students are currently wearing chicken costumes in grocery stores throughout Utah as a promotional effort for the NuLaid Egg Company. "This is the same NuLaid chicken that is presently seen on television commercials throughout the state," Kagel said. Last year's advertising students created the entire NuLaid campaign, he said.
The public relation's class is taking the campaign one step further by personally introducing the NuLaid chicken to the public.
The chicken is a symbol for NuLaid, said Kagel. It is always good to create a symbol for a product whenever possible, he added. The symbol is important for creating awareness and memorability. "When people go to the store, they will hopefully have a recollection of what they have seen in a commercial or print advertisement," he said.
Famous symbols used nationally are the Pillsbury

Doughboy, the Jolly Green Giant and Elsie the Cow, added Kagel. The symbol could represent quality or good value.

Jerry Schaff, Robert Hall, Blake Garside and Bruce Lloyd are the students working on the account, Kagel said. Other members of the class are doing practical public relations work for other clients.

"We want to associate the chicken with the NuLaid company," said Schaff. "We've spent most of our time working in Salt Lake stores, but we're going to come to the Provo area within the near future."
Children who have seen the chicken in the stores have expressed all sorts of emotions, said Lloyd. Some of the kids are terrified; others have really been pleased, he added. "One little boy said to me, 'Mr. Chicken, I love you,'" said Lloyd.

"It's fun to be inside the costume because no one knows who you are. It's the first time since I've been married that I've been able to put my arm around another 'chick,'" said Schaff.

The costume was designed by BYU Campus Culture. The head was purchased from BYU Motion Picture Studios. "It's a little difficult to see out of the back, I've come close to stepping on a couple of kids," Lloyd said. "One lady got a beak in her face because I didn't see her. It can be embarrassing."

Five-year-old Jared Hadden talks to B. Lloyd, a public relations major. Lloyd, Y students who wears the feathers advertising campaign.

The kids got a break at the grocery store last month, but the grownups were out of luck. An Associated Press marketbasket survey shows the price of milk and cookies declined during November, but coffee prices continued their steady rise.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973 and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month.

Among the findings in the latest survey:
—The price of a bag of chocolate chip cookies declined at the checklist store in six of the cities surveyed. The drops generally ranged between five and 10 cents. There were indications that the drop was only a temporary, special promotion, however. The cost of cocoa beans has soared and prices for chocolate bars already have gone up.

—The cost of a quart of milk declined at the checklist store in eight cities after rising in eight cities during October. The decreases were about a penny or two and left the price of a quart of milk at between 40 and 50 cents in most cities.

—Coffee prices went up again at the checklist store in eight cities. The price of one pound of coffee is $2 or more at the checklist store in every city in the AP survey except Atlanta where coffee costs $1.98 a pound. Coffee beans, meanwhile, continue to go up and up and up, reflecting damage done to crops last year in Brazil, Angola, Colombia and Guatemala. Part of the increase is due to terms of the last International Coffee Agreement. The United States agreed to let producers add a tenth of a per cent to the price of each pound of coffee for a "promotion fund," designed to encourage people to drink more coffee.

Eggs to go with the coffee also went up in price, rising at the checklist store in 12 of the cities checked.

Series to feature U.S. mining chief

The associate director of the U.S. Bureau of Mines Mineral and Materials Research Division will be the speaker at the College Lecture Series today at 10 a.m. in the de Jong Concert Hall, HFAC.

Dr. Thomas A. Henrie will discuss the "Social Benefits of Minerals Research." The lecture is sponsored by the College of Engineering Sciences and Technology.

Dr. Henrie was born in Utah and received his B.S. degree in chemistry in 1952 from BYU. He is recognized as an authority on silver, gold and mercury processing, on rare earth metal extraction and refining processes and on electrolytic technology.

In his present position, Dr. Henrie is responsible for the administration of all Bureau of Mines research and development activities.

Y Cougars prep for bowl

With a brief Thanksgiving break out of the way the pace is picking up for the BYU football team.

Besides being caught up in the annual pre-Christmas frenzy and in the hectic semester-closing days prior to final exams, the Cougars still have one important game left in the 1976 football season.

BYU, co-champions in the WAC, will meet Oklahoma State, which tied for the Big Eight championship, in the 31st annual Tangerine Bowl on Dec. 18 in Orlando, Fla.

The Cougars finished the year as the nation's top passing team and were 9-2 in games, their most victories ever. The Cowboys were 8-3 in tying for conference honors with Colorado and Oklahoma. OSU defeated the Sooners but lost out on an Orange Bowl bid due to a loss to the Buffaloes.

BYU is led by junior quarterback Gifford Nielsen, the national leader in touchdown passes with 29. The 6-5 former basketball star for the Cougars paced his team to NCAA passing honors with an average of 307.8 yards per game.

Only four players in history have passed for more yards in a season than he did (3192), and he set league records for attempts, completions, yards, touchdowns, and total offense, and tied records for plays and touchdowns responsible for.

The Cougars won 10 of their last 11 games and six in a row. After a sputtering (3-13) start at Kansas State (a team OSU beat late in the season, 45-21), BYU scored more than 20 points in every game except one and that was when the Cougars blanked San Diego State, 8-0, for the Aztecs' lone loss of the year.

Oklahoma State, behind the running of junior halfback Terry Miller, won five of its last six and scored 45, 42, and 42 points in its final three games. In addition to Kansas State, the two T-Bowl opponents played one other common foe.

BYU defeated Texas-El Paso 40-27 the week after scoring an emotional victory over defending WAC champion Arizona State, and OSU downed UTEP, 42-13, last Saturday—a few days after the Miners returned from Hawaii.

Cagers defeat Boise, 76-75

A tough defensive performance down the stretch by BYU's basketball team nursed a narrow lead and pulled out the win for the Cougars over Boise State 76-75 Wednesday night.

Cougar scoring started out hot and fast in the first half, but a five-minute drought from 10:28 to 5:30 resulted in a halftime deficit of 39-35 for BYU.

The lead see-sawed through most of the game, changing hands 16 times. But when BYU took over on a jump shot by guard Mike May with 4:29 remaining in the game, to make the score 61-59, the Cats were able to hang on.

Freshman guard Scott Runia's pressure on Bronco guard Steve Connor forced Boise's leading scorer to take questionable shots that the Cougars rebounded in the final minutes to retain the lead.

"Runia played Connor pretty tough down the clutch," said Coach Frank Arnold.

But that lead was almost lost in the last seconds. Forward Kevin Goetz narrowed the margin to 76-72 with two free throws with 21 seconds left. Then a driving layin by Connor made it 76-74 at the buzzer. But Mark Handy fouled under the basket and Connor added the final point for the Broncos after time had run out.

Handy was the Cougars' leading scorer for the third time in four games, getting 26 points. Connor was the game leader with 27.

Verne Thompson, who came up with some timely rebounds for BYU, finished with 10 points, as did Jay Cheesman.

Vance Law scored eight points for the Cougars, Mike May and Scott Runia got four apiece and Misho Ostarcevic scored two points.

Handy had 13 rebounds, Cheesman 10 and Thompson got nine.

Y sports information adds woman assistant

Mrs. Ellen A. Larsen of Provo has been appointed assistant sports information director for women at BYU.

Mrs. Larsen, who has had wide experience in writing and physical education teaching, will work in the office of David A. Schulthess, BYU's veteran sports information director.

"Women's sports activity at BYU has grown tremendously in recent years, involving large numbers of outstanding women athletes and ranking BYU among the nation's leaders in many sports," said Bruce L. Olsen, assistant to the president for University Relations. "Mrs. Larsen will provide the public information which these activities require in a time when women's sports are becoming ever more popular and important."

A native of Provo, Mrs. Larsen received the B. A. degree from BYU with honors in English and the M. A. degree in education from Stanford University. She taught girls' physical education and English in California high schools, and for six years was a part-time teacher of freshman English at BYU.

For 16 years she has been a member of the women's A Golf Team of the Riverside Country Club and serves as handicap chairman of the club.

Icecats gain tie with S.L. team

The BYU ice hockey team battled to a 4-4 tie with Arby's of Salt Lake City Tuesday. It was the Icecats' third game with Arby's this season, and their first game since Thanksgiving.

The Icecats jumped to a 2-0 lead, but Arby's battled back to tie the score at the end of the second period.

In the third period, both goaltenders made some good saves, including an Arby's penalty shot that was blocked by Y goalie Nick Bigney.

During that period, the Icecats lost defenseman

Daryl Pick, who was carried from the ice on a stretcher after being hit from behind by an illegal crosscheck.

The final Icecat goal came from team captain Bob Gerber, who pumped a shot past the Arby's goalie. The Icecat defense held on until the final two minutes of the game, then Arby's scored the final tying goal.

Y wrestlers open season this weekend

PROVO — BYU's wrestling team, which has finished first eight times and second three times in the past 11 seasons of WAC competition, opens the 1976-77 year this weekend at the University of Arizona Invitational in Tucson.

Coch Fred Davis welcomes 10 lettermen from a 9-6 team which was second to WAC champion Arizona State. Heading the list is All-American Sam Orme, who finished fifth in the NCAA tournament.

Texas Christian names Dry coach

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — F.A. Dry, former Tulsa coach, was named Tuesday to lift Texas Christian out of college football's junkyard.

He signed a contract calling for an estimated five years at some $35,000 annually.

Dry, 45, had a 31-17-1 record at Tulsa. TCU lost all 11 games this year and was 2-31 in the three years under Jim Shofner, who resigned.

Dry's resignation at Tulsa is effective after the Golden Hurricane meets McNeese State in the Independence Bowl.

"We should be improved this year," says Davis, former Oklahoma State NCAA champ, who is starting his 13th season as BYU head coach. "We have more experience and depth and we hope to be a contender."

Davis rates Arizona State as the team to beat again and says Wyoming is getting close to challenging for conference laurels.

At least one candidate for national honors will miss the Arizona trip. That would be heavyweight Gary Peterson, who will be involved in football until after the Dec. 18 Tangerine Bowl.

With the 6-4, 270-pounder unavailable, the Cougars likely will turn to 300-pound freshman Dave Gillespie. BYU also figures to be strong at 126 with the return of WAC champ Paul Fehlberg (1975) and at 167, where sophomore Brad Hansen should be among the area's best.

John Meacham has moved up to 142, leaving Craig Prete and Lamar Boyer vying for the 134-pound spot. Gene Patch has gone up to 158, leaving David Hansen at 150, and Mel Maxwell returns at 190.

Several newcomers could get spots in the BYU lineup during the season.

Rory Needs, a transfer from Boise State, is a possible at 177 and Davis will take a long look at freshmen Tim

Sam Orme, BYU All-American in the 118-pound class, shoots for a single-leg takedown in a match last year. He heads a list of 10 returning lettermen.

Hoffer (Montana, 158), Jim Rennett (Utah, 167) and Dave Hamad (Iowa, 150).

BYU opens at home Dec. 8 against Idaho State, and will host Division II national champ Cal State-Bakersfield

Dec. 15. Dec. 17-18 the Cougars are entered in the Beehive Invitational in Salt Lake City.

'The Bird' receives A.L. honor

NEW YORK (AP) — R. pitcher Mark Fidrych, the crowd-pleaser of the Detroit Tigers, was named the American League Rookie of the Year Wednesday.

Fidrych, who laced in performances with eccentric such as talking to baseball down mounds, collected possible 24 votes from committee of the Baseball Association of America.

The remaining two votes went to Butch Wynegar, Minnesota's hard-hitting catcher.

Fidrych, a 22-year-old from Northampton, Mass., proved only a winner with a 19-9 league-leading earned run average of 2.34, but was one of the attractions in the major league season.

The theatrical mound Fidrych, nicknamed "The Bird," caught the fancy of the television people.

In the 29 games Fidrych drew a total paid attendance of 901,339. Quite frequently he was in the advance of the game, and he was selected to the American League in the All-Star game at Philadelphia.

In addition to leading the ERA, Fidrych led all pitchers in complete games in 29 starts.

Experience, unity to carry bowlers in Utah tournament

By SHERIEYRE Universe Sports Writer

With returning experience, new potential and strivings toward unity and comradeship, it looks like another great year for the BYU varsity bowling teams.

The men's and women's teams, each with eight members, practice each Tuesday and Thursday to prepare for upcoming tournament competition.

"Our Tuesday practice is devoted to a lecture period during which the team members learn the basic and advanced techniques of bowling," explained Shafter Bown, bowling team coach. "On Thursdays they practice by competing with their teammates."

Goals play an important role in working toward individual and team improvement, according to Bown. "I tell the team members when they come to practice they must have a goal, such as improving their arm swing or increasing their pin fall," he said.

"Our team goal this year is to build two strong teams, where unity and comradeship will lead the members to put forth a team effort, not an individual effort, in competition," he continued. "We feel we must be united as a team, if we expect to do well in tournament play."

The teams will be competing at the University of Utah through Saturday, Bown said. Competing with BYU at the tournament will be Utah, Utah State and possibly Weber State.

The following week BYU will attend the Boise Invitational Bowling Tournament. "Since we're the defending champions of this tournament, we'll bring along the traveling trophy, which is something like the wagon wheel in football," Bown commented.

Compete in Las Vegas

On Dec. 29-31 the teams will compete in the Las Vegas Collegiate Invitational Bowling Tournament. "This is the largest collegiate tournament in the nation and teams from all over the United States will be there," the coach said.

The "big tournament of the year" for BYU will be at Colorado State Feb. 17-19. The Association of College Unions International Tournament will bring together the best college teams from Region 13, consisting of Utah, Idaho, New Mexico, Arizona, and Wyoming.

The winner of this tournament will qualify for the national bowling finals. "The main goal of our bowling program is to get ready for the ACUI tournament, as we hope to qualify for the national finals this year," Bown said.

Last year both the men's and women's teams finished second in the sectional roll-offs to determine the two teams that would compete in the national finals. "Both teams did exceptionally well," he noted. Bowling for BYU this year are three men and two women who played on last year's teams. The other team members, including some freshmen, are all new talent. "The freshmen seem to have a lot of potential for success, not only for this year but in years to come — if we can keep them on the team, which we generally can," Bown said.

Once a month, a challenge round is held to give students a chance to try out for the teams. After a group of students has rolled 24 games, the student with the highest pin fall may challenge a member of the bowling team.

"In choosing new team members, I look not only for bowling skill, but also for attitude, how coachable they are and how well I think they'll fit in and get along with the team," Bown said.

Team captains

Team captains this year are Shawn Brady of the men's team and Shauna Huff of the women's team. Responsibilities of the captains include reserving lanes and equipment, assisting Bown with itineraries for tournament trips, leading out in practice and boosting team morale.

Brady, a physical education major from Orem, commented, "The men's team didn't look good at the start of the season, but it looks much better now. The guys are really progressing."

About any plans beyond BYU for bowling, Brady said, "I don't plan on bowling for a profession, but I wouldn't mind coaching it or being involved in some other aspect of the game."

Miss Huff, who is from Spanish Fork, is majoring in early childhood education. "I got interested in bowling because my dad manages a bowling alley," she said. I started bowling when I was young, but I didn't bowl competitively until two years ago when I joined the BYU team."

Asked if she wants to continue in bowling after leaving BYU, Miss Huff said, "While I don't want to go professional, I'd like to keep being in tournaments because it's a good way to earn money."

men's and women's watches

England (AP) — The Club announced a 10 percent increase in prize money for the 1977 Wimbledon women's tournament. The women's champion, Chris Evert, as spokeswoman, demanded equal prize money and declared they would not play at Wimbledon in 1977 unless they got it.

BYU swimmer Piero Ferracuti dives during the 1975 season. Ferracuti, a sophomore this season, specializes in the breaststroke. He and his teammates are preparing for their season opener Friday.

Swimmers ready for season

PROVO — The BYU swimming team has put in thousands of miles training for the 1976-77 season and now it's time to test their skills against some competition.

The Cougars open the season at 7 p.m. Friday against Utah in the Ute Natatorium (Salt Lake City) and then host the Beehive Relays (mainly BYU and Utah) at 3:30 p.m. Saturday in the Richards Building.

Coach Tim Powers enters his second season as BYU coach with veteran Rolie Bestor elevated from diving coach to assistant head coach.

"Rolie was a great diver but also was very successful as a coach and has good rapport with the kids," says Powers. "We feel we need him to work with our swimmers as well as divers."

Powers, a conference champion at Montana who coached a number of AAU standouts at the West Valley Aquatic Club in San Jose, Calif., had a tremendous recruiting year with a dozen outstanding prospects ready to join nine lettermen in swim competition this season.

"Arizona is way ahead of everybody with good returning people, good recruiting and some excellent prospects who transferred two years ago when Washington dropped its swimming program," explains Coach Powers. "But we are expecting a very good year and are looking forward to some NCAA qualifiers."

Seniors Bruce Bowlsby (butterfly, IM) and Dave White (breast) head the team. Juniors Lyle Christofferson (free), Mark Murphy (back) and Jim Tingey (free) will join sophomores Wally Andelin (free), Piero Ferracuti (breast), Steve Skidmore (IM) and John Sorich (free) for a solid nucleus even without all the talented freshmen.

High school All-Americans

High school All-Americans Andy Seibt, Steve Sherman, Brian James and Steve Bird will help the Cougars a great deal, especially where depth is concerned. And improved diving — an area where Arizona and Arizona State literally bounced away with the WAC meet — is anticipated.

Pro player gets 1-year sentence

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Detroit Pistons forward Marvin Barnes has been given a one-year prison term for violating probation, but has two weeks to appeal the ruling to the Rhode Island Supreme Court.

Superior Court Judge Anthony Giannini found Tuesday that Barnes violated three years' probation given him in 1974 by carrying a concealed handgun at Detroit's Metropolitan Airport Oct. 9.

Giannini delayed sentencing to give defense attorney Alton Wiley time to explore an appeal, but the judge said he believed state law does not allow an appeal.

"I will be doing all that I can to keep Marvin out of jail," Wiley said after court proceedings had ended, but added: "I'm really not sure which route I will be taking."

Barnes said after leaving the courtroom: "I'll just have to do my time, I can take the wait. It's always a disappointment when you have to go to jail."

The former Providence College All-American was given three years' probation and a one-year suspended sentence two years ago for assaulting teammate Larry Kervetter with a tire iron.

"I expected that much from the people here, so it wasn't really a major disappointment," Barnes said after the Superior Court hearing. "I'll get my stuff together and go ahead and do my time."

Award shows black athletes improve status

NEW YORK (AP) — When Pittsburgh's Tony Dorsett cradled the bronze Heisman Trophy in his arms Tuesday, there wasn't a prouder smile in the house than that belonging to graying, bespectacled Herbert P. Douglas Jr.

Another black had made good. "I have a lot of reasons to be happy," the 34-year-old New York wine and spirits importer said. "My alma mater, Pittsburgh, at last has won the Heisman. The black football player now has come to full stature."

Douglas, bronze medalist in the long jump in the 1948 Olympics, was one of two black players who broke the color barrier at Pitt in 1945. He experienced the early knocks and frustrations of athletes of his race — shut out of big time college and professional sports for so many years. "There were only 39 black players on major college squads in the entire country in 1945," he recalled. "Buddy Young and I once went over the list, man for man."

"Now we have hundreds. We have our sixth Heisman Trophy winner in the last 16 years — our seventh if you count Archie Griffin twice. We have come a long way."

"My only regret is that most black players, admittedly recognized for their great athletic ability, still are being short-changed in the fringe areas — endorsements, TV off-season opportunities and things like that. Only O. J. Simpson has succeeded in this category."

Douglas recalled how he got his first football opportunity at Pitt while World War II was winding down and Clark Shaughnessy was coaching a team that traditionally was one of the East's best. It was not until two years later — 1947 — that Jackie Robinson broke in with baseball's Brooklyn Dodgers and still three more years, 1950 — before Chuck Cooper made his historic bow with the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association.

"It's hard to believe," Douglas mused. "Now they say pro football is 40 per cent black, basketball 60 per cent and baseball 30 per cent. Blacks make up 30 per cent of the major college football personnel, aggressively recruited even in the South."

Douglas was a man-in-motion halfback on the 1945 Pitt squad. Another black, Jimmy Joe Robinson, played halfback.

The bias of the era was reflected in the All-America and Heisman Trophy selections. Jim Brown of Syracuse, one of the greatest ball carriers of all time, never finished higher than fifth in the Heisman balloting. Such stars as Ken Washington and Buddy Young were overlooked.

Danny Murtaugh Suffers a stroke

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Danny Murtaugh, who retired at the end of last season as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, has been hospitalized with a stroke, believed serious.

He was taken by ambulance from his home in nearby Woodlyn Tuesday to Crozier-Chester Medical Center and placed in the intensive care unit.

A hospital spokesman said Murtaugh, who celebrated his 59th birthday Oct. 8, was semi-conscious and resting comfortably.

"It was described to me as a serious stroke," the spokesman said. "But the extent of damage won't be known until it has been carefully evaluated."

A team of specialists was examining his condition, the spokesman said.

Murtaugh, a former second baseman for the Pirates, became manager of the team midway in the 1957 season, replacing the fired Bobby Bragan.

The Pirates finished second in the National League in 1958 under Murtaugh after placing last or next-to-last the previous eight seasons.

In 1960, he led the Pirates to a World Series triumph over the New York Yankees, but he retired in 1964 due to heart trouble and became a part-time Pittsburgh scout.

It was to be the first of four retirements for Murtaugh as Pirates manager.

He returned briefly to manage the club late in the 1967 season after Harry Walker was fired.

He retired again at the end of that season, only to return in 1970 in what was a major surprise, succeeding the fired Larry Shepard.

Known for his stone-faced stoic demeanor on the bench, Murtaugh led the Pirates to another World Series triumph in 1971, this time over the Baltimore Orioles.

After that season he retired again. "I want to take some time to smell the roses," he said.

He did not spend long in the rose garden, returning again as Pirates manager in 1973, replacing the fired Bill Virdon.

'Toad' gets approval from young hearts

By MARK BACHAN
Universe Staff Writer

Two hundred giggling, giggling boys and girls (and a number of grown-ups) watched the wonderful, whimsical world of "Toad" unfold on the Pardee stage of the Pardee Drama Theater Tuesday morning. Judging from their reactions, they loved it.

"Toad" is a new musical written by Beverly Jean Warner, a faculty member in the department of Theatre and Cinematic Arts. It is based on the children's classic, "The Wind in the Willows," by Kenneth Grahame.

The story tells of a lovable character, Moley (a mole), who, on a beautiful spring day, runs into big, boisterous, and boastful Toad.

The way the story is finally resolved and justice meted out is great theatrical fun for anyone who is young at heart and hasn't become too stuffy to enjoy a good chase scene. And although Toad learns an important lesson, he just can't resist one last bit of mischief that makes a fine ending to the show.

"Toad" has many fine qualities. The music by Wes Wright is delightful. There are beautiful melodies of spring, the wind in the willows, and friends; catchy tunes about the life adventurous and the "mighty four"; rollicking songs about weasels partying and, of course, Toad's escapades. The song enjoyed most by the audience was "Open Road" during which Toad teases everyone with "Betcha can't catch me" in a way known to everyone who has ever been a child.

The choreography by C. Michael Perry was very effective. The weasel's ambush, the chase scenes, and the dances of the "Good" animals showed imagination and complete control over a large cast.

Superlatives are in order for outstanding set design, costuming, and make-up. Badger was beautiful with his white streaked hair and his bright Scottish plaid. An interesting touch was the use of masks which presents a challenge to the skills of an actor.

The acting, on the whole, was good. Especially noteworthy was Michael Farnes as Moley. His voice was pleasant and he sustained his character well. The cast in general seemed to work well together. If there were one specific criticism it would be that they need to pay more careful attention to tightening cues and emphasizing key words and lines.

Blind guitarist to give concert

Guitarist Jose Feliciano will present a concert
Friday in the Wilkinson Center Ballroom at 9:30 p.m.

Sponsored by the ASBYU Social Office, tickets are $3 per person and will be available at the door or at the Wilkinson Center ticket office, according to Greg Wright, social vice president.

As a special feature for the concert, any blind person - whether a BYU student or not - should contact the Social Office for early entry into the concert with their tickets for seating near the stage.

Feliciano's name in music circles has come about in just a few years. His guitar artistry denotes part Spanish and part jazz, part rock and part soul.

The Puerto Rico native discovered music at the age of three and from the point on it has been his life. His blindness has been no handicap in the development of his talent.

From his first public appearance at age nine, he has progressed technically to become one of the world's greatest guitarists.

The road from performing in Greenwich Village coffee houses to the London Palladium, Greek Theater, appearances with several well known symphonies and television performances have made Feliciano known in entertainment throughout the world.

Feliciano's triumphs in Central and South America presaged his popularity in the United States. With the release of "Light My Fire" and "California Dreamin'" he became a sensational concert attraction.

In the spring of 1969 at the Grammy Awards presentation of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences, Feliciano was nominated in four categories and was awarded two Grammys. One was for the Best New Artist and the other for Best Male Contemporary-Pop Vocal Performance for "Light My Fire."

The guitarist has appeared on network television with Bing Crosby, Tom Jones, Glen Campbell, Diana Ross, Andy Williams and many more. He has also hosted the "Midnight Special" several times.

Society to present two feature films

An academy award-winning film and a comedy will be shown Dec. 2-4 by the Film Society.

The two films, "All About Eve," and "Bringing Up Baby" will be shown Dec. 2 at 7 p.m. 446 MARB.
The double features will also be shown at 6 p.m., 7:30 p.m. and 9 p.m., Dec. 3 and 4. The Saturday 9 p.m. showing will only feature "All About Eve."
Admission is 50 cents.

"All About Eve" won six academy awards in 1950.
It received best picture, best director and best screen play awards. George Sanders won the best supporting actor award.

The film tells of the rise of a new Broadway star.
The Broadway play, "Applause" is based on "All About Eve." Davis plays the lead role of Margo, the star.

"Bringing Up Baby" stars Katharine Hepburn and Cary Grant. According to Gere LaDue, Film Society president, the film is the last of the screwball comedies of the 1930's. Cary Grant plays archeologist and Katherine Hepburn a rich girl who is after him.
"What's Up, Doc?" was mad as a tribute to "Bringing Up Baby."

Play auditions set for Friday

Auditions for the BYU theater production "Death of a Salesman," will be held Friday from 4-7 p.m. in B-201, HFAC.

An award-winning director of both stage and television and professor in the Theatre and Cinematic Arts Department, Tad Z. Danielewski will direct the play. Danielewski has asked that those auditioning prepare a dramatic scene. A cold reading will also be acceptable.

The play has 13 characters, eight men and five women. Only one of the characters has been pre-cast.
Willy Loman will be played by Dr. Harold I. Hansen.
"Death of a Salesman" is the story of people struggling to be loved and respected not only by others but also by themselves.

Y Inter-tribal Choir to sing at Springville Art Museum

The Springville Museum of Art will host the BYU
Inter-tribal Choir concert, tonight at 8 p.m.

The 40-member choir represents 35 tribes and will perform traditional tribal songs and dances. The songs deal with man's relationship to God and earth.

A Navajo Gourd Dance and a Plains Indian Women's Shawl Dance will be performed. There will also be a reading of "Navajo's Prayer" and "Child of a Hogan." A Comanche riding song will be performed on an Indian flute.

Washington awaits official to review Panama dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Panama's foreign minister is planning to slip quietly into Washington this week to check prospects on future negotiations over the Panama Canal following new Ford administration proposals to end the canal dispute, sources said.

Some of the new proposals were said to be unacceptable to Panama while others were being studied by Panamanian officials, who are hoping for better terms after Jimmy Carter becomes president. Any signs Carter might stall the talks could compel Panama's strongman Gen. Omar Torrijos to refer the issue to the United Nations Security Council, sources said. He did the same thing in 1973 and it took an American veto to kill a resolution urging a quick conclusion to "a new, just and equitable treaty."

The Ford administration's latest proposals have been submitted informally to Panamanian negotiators, meaning they do not represent final U.S. positions.

Qualified sources reported that the proposals relate to a new treaty's duration, the future of American-manned military bases, the size of the Canal Zone and the status of U.S. civilians working and living there.

Sources from both countries who disclosed the latest U.S. proposals stressed they had been submitted informally. Some were rejected outright by the Panamanians. Others have been accepted for study and therefore require responses but they appear, on the surface, to fall far short of Panamanian demands.

The chief U.S. negotiator, Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, was not available to comment on the terms attributed to the Americans, and his aides declined to confirm or deny them.

White House Christmas tree will be next year's yule log

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 44-foot Colorado blue spruce that has been the national Christmas tree is dying, and this season will be its last.

"It will be next year's Yule Log," said National Park Service ranger George Berkley on Tuesday as workmen used a crane to adorn the 45-year-old tree.

The tree was transplanted in 1973 from Shickshinny, Pa., to the Ellipse behind the White House to serve as the first permanent Christmas tree. Previously, cut trees were used for the Pageant of Peace each Christmas.

Berkley said the tree suffered root damage, apparently from an inability to cope with Washington's hot, damp, low-land climate.

The Park Service plans to replace it with a new permanent tree next October, "but this time we will try to locate one in Virginia or Maryland and one from roughly the same elevation," Berkley said.

For its finale, the tree will be decorated with 3,000 red bulbs and 57 ornaments. The lights will be turned on by President Ford when he opens the pageant Dec. 16.

National PTA attacks violence on television

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The national Parent-Teacher Association, launching an assault on television violence, took testimony here Tuesday to support its claim that video mayhem results in real-life violence.

"The message shown is that violence pays," said Dr. Keith Reisinger, a professor of pediatrics and psychiatry at the University of Pittsburgh and father of three. "Television continuously instructs us that we can easily resolve problems by use of force."

An 11-member PTA panel and about 100 persons heard more than a dozen witnesses in the first of eight hearings scheduled across the United States through February.

One witness was Allegheny County Judge Patrick Tamilla, who said he has seen evidence that many children in juvenile court cases believe that violence pays.

"Kids don't cry much anymore... the hardness of heart is just incomprehensible," Tamilla said. "They are looking at that violence on TV where there is really no remorse shown... so when they do something wrong and hurt someone else, they don't feel they've done it to a human being."

An opposing view was offered by Roy Danish, director of the New York-based Television Information Office, an arm of the National Association of Broadcasters.

He came armed with statistical data and studies challenging the notion that television encourages violent behavior among children.

"These may suffice to indicate that the case is not closed and that more research is needed," he said. "We also think we're moving as well as we're able toward the removal of gratuitous violence, but it would be wrong to present a picture of the world in which there is no conflict and no aggression."

Danish also laid down a challenge to the PTA and the public: "If you are able to reshape yourselves as an audience and to shape another generation as an audience for other kinds of programming, that other kind of programming will be there."

Cardboard executives jailed

CHICAGO (AP) — Forty-seven executives of cardboard box manufacturers were given jail terms and fines Tuesday for rigging the prices in the folding carton industry.

The toughest punishment was 60 days in jail and a $35,000 fine for R. Harper Brown, president of Container Corp. of America, one of the nation's largest firms with annual sales in the $1 billion range.

Brown was among 16 defendants sentenced to jail terms by U.S. District Judge James Parsons, who declared that the cost of price fixing "is passed along to the ultimate consumer."

Defendants with shorter sentences, some with four or five days, will be able to serve them in work-release programs, allowing them to go to their jobs during working hours.

Parsons said he will hold hearings throughout December, including Christmas week, on any motions for reduction of sentences.

Parsons said before the sentencing that the folding cartons manufactured by the defendants were used for products ranging from frozen foods to camera film.

Women may enter space

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — A former U.S. astronaut who has been to the moon twice says he's convinced "women will soon be aboard American spacecraft."

James A. Lovell said Tuesday that astronauts will be chosen next July for this country's space shuttle program.

"I am positive there will be women in the selection," he said.

Lovell, 48, said the nature of the space program has changed with the advent of the space shuttle and the Skylab program. "There will be mission specialists, for instance, and I'm certain women will qualify for those jobs as well as other positions that become available," he said.

The retired Navy captain flew to the moon on the Apollo 8 mission in 1968 and the Apollo 13 flight in 1970. He was in Spokane to speak at Spokane Falls Community College.

The space shuttle program, which will involve a reusable space craft to ferry personnel and equipment into orbit, is to begin test flights next year, Lovell said. Among the benefits that can be expected from the program are better crop production forecasts and weather information, he said.

"Right now, science is working to perfect a system to monitor crop production," Lovell said. "The scientists are trying to devise a system that will keep track of, let's say, wheat production, and continuously supply that information back to earth."

Public complacency with the space program is a measure of its success, the former astronaut said, because people expect things to go well. Lovell said he thinks the space shuttle program is safe and will receive adequate financing, regardless of which administration is in power in Washington, D.C.

New energy source

Coal mine gas valuable

CHICAGO (AP) — The coal mine gas which poses a hazard for miners could be used as another source of energy, a government official said Tuesday.

The gas, methane, is present in all coal deposits and must be vented from coal mines because it is potentially explosive.

The official, Gary E. Voelker, a manager in the Energy Research and Development Administration, Washington, outlined possibilities for use of this gas at a meeting of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Voelker reported studies which have shown that recoverable mine gas is about equal to known U.S. natural-gas reserves.

There are an estimated 794 trillion cubic feet of methane in U.S. coal deposits, Voelker said, "a reasonable recovery rate of 25 per cent" would produce 200 trillion cubic feet for use.

"This gas, if captured prior to and after mining, could provide for the nonelectric needs of some 800,000 U.S. households," Voelker said in his prepared paper.

"The most common means of maintaining the methane peril within acceptable limits in U.S. mines today is basically a 'brute force' approach of pumping large flows of ventilating air into the underground workings in order to dilute the methane concentration," Voelker said.

The gas then is routinely vented into the atmosphere and wasted, he pointed out.

Methane is found not only in virgin coal beds but occurs in mined-out areas.

"As coal mining operations expand and as mining operations progress to deeper methane rich, coal seams, the ventilation of the mining areas becomes more difficult, safety problems increase and the total amount of gas wasted will increase," Voelker said.

High-quality captured gas could be injected directly into pipelines, he said. Lower quality said, could be used for on-site electricity to operate the mine.

For the most part, coal producing areas shown little interest in capturing commercial use, he said. This is partly legal concerns about whether the rights to the gas under their leases and they are not yet convinced that meth-

Kongs fight gorilla war

LONDON (AP) — King Kong has won the first round in his gorilla war with a female impersonator.

The High Court banned the distribution of the British movie "Queen Kong" on Tuesday until the courts decide a suit by the King's sponsors charging the makers of the British film with copyright infringement.

The copyright suit was brought by RKO, which made the 1933 classic, and Dino de Laurentiis, whose $20-million remake is opening in the United States this month.

"Queen Kong" is the work of Dexter Films and cost $632,000. It takes the Queen to the top of the London Post Office tower, in emulation of King Kong's New York climb to the top of the Empire State Building in 1933 and to the top of the World Trade Center in 1976.

Police find sheep but not Bo Peep

CHICAGO (AP) — Police are looking for Little Bo Peep. They found three lost sheep.

One sheep was found Monday tied to a light post in a shopping center parking lot in Evergreen Park, a suburb south of Chicago. Another was picked up roaming in the streets in Evergreen Park, and a third was found loitering on Chicago's South Side.

All are in good condition and are doing well on a diet of hay and grain at the Animal Welfare League. "You can call it a dyed-in-the-wool mystery," said Allen Gilsch, league director. "Sheep usually travel in bunches and don't stray. We think they all belong to the same person. The owner could have gotten tired of high feed bills and let them out. If he abandoned them, he is subject to a $500 fine."
